Precision

Nijdra Group is a professional supplier specialized in high-quality precision components, complex (sub)modules and complete systems for the high-tech industry.

Nijdra Group cares for its customers' needs, from engineering, manufacturing, assembly and testing to supply chain management. Thanks to our extensive experience (since 1974) in the high-tech industry, we are capable of providing added value in every stage – from development to production of assembled, tested modules and machines. Furthermore, we provide our customers with support in their product design, the guidance and production of a prototype as well as with the development from prototype to serial production and assembly. We draw on our wide expertise in the field of manufacturability, scope of tolerance, use of materials, surface treatment, cost reduction engineering, excellent quality and efficient assembly to achieve the optimum results for our customers.
