LABORJOURNAL online

The publishing house

» Good "old-fashioned" journalism

What started out as a small but feisty local venture has evolved into a mature and strong global publishing enterprise, which is read in all German speaking countries and beyond. More than 30 freelance journalists write for Laborjournal and the number of life science researchers who admit to not knowing this magazine, is fast approaching zero.

What is the reason for this success?

Perhaps this is the wrong question. Instead we should be asking what distinguishes Laborjournal from other Life Science magazines? The answer is that Laborjournal makes journalism, real journalism, magazine style. This means well investigated articles, background stories, interviews, portraits and all written in plain German.

Johannes Doehmer, former Professor of Toxicology and founder of the biotechnology company GenPharmTox wrote: "Despite solid editorial work, Laborjournal has established an image as the 'Simplicissimus' of science and research and continues to present itself as fresh, free and merry, whilst helping the underdogs and kicking the domineering! These are the ingredients to Labjournal's success."

Researchers are appreciative. Wherever Laborjournalists call or appear they receive approval, consent and encouragement. The researchers at the bench know that Laborjournal is on their side. Proof of this statement is exhibited by the abundant information on scientific misconduct or mismanagement, which reaches our editorial office on a confidential basis.

"To grasp hot potatoes in research and to present critical news to the public – this has been the core of Laborjournal's business over the last ten years."

(Peter Gruss, President of the Max Planck Society)

In addition, we invite you to read the (often) hot and critical Laborjournal news at Laborjournal online. We recommend the archive, which contains an abundance of useful articles. The ever-increasing number of site clicks shows that this facility is frequently used by Laborjournal readers.

They're obviously too impatient to wait for the next issue!

Methods & more

1 >> Short characterization:

Since February 2017, "Methods & More" under Laborjournal Online offers a broad range of new content on methods, such as: method reviews, tips and tricks, problem solving strategies, product overviews, etc.

Our "Methods & More" platform is also open to all suppliers, as a perfect medium to present their:

- >> Products
- >> White Papers
- >> Catalogues and Brochures
- >> Courses and Training Programmes

All this information will be carefully bundled, clustered by topics and oriented, to provide our online readers with an effective search and a focussed web visit. Together, we will turn this platform into a "must experience" for laboratory researchers and the practise-oriented scientific community.

2 >> Improved performance:

But what is the use of good information, if it is hard – sometimes even impossible – to be found? With that in mind, we have optimized our method content for all search engines.

The screenshot shows the Laborjournal website interface. At the top, there is a banner for 'DURAN-AKTION BEI CARL ROTH' with a '-20%' discount. Below this is the 'LABORJOURNAL' logo and a search bar. The main content area features a 'Stellenmarkt' (Job Market) section with a table of job listings. The table has columns for 'Ort' (Location), 'Vom' (From), and 'Schlagzeile / Arbeitgeber' (Headline / Employer). The listings include positions in Düsseldorf, Deutschland, Heidelberg, and München. To the right of the job listings, there are several promotional banners, including one for 'Western Blot Training' and another for 'invitrogen' (Thermo Fisher Scientific). At the bottom, there is a '2018' banner and a 'Let's get to the science' banner.
