Proofreading service

Proofreading is ideal for authors who are confident that their document is well written and only needs a final check before submission to eliminate language errors. This service fixes typographical mistakes and eliminates basic errors in grammar, punctuation, spelling, and consistency.

Guaranteed subject-matter expertise

We understand the importance of subject-matter expertise in improving manuscript quality. This is why every manuscript we receive flows through one of our 20 specialized subject-area teams called Centers of Excellence (CoEs), ensuring that only a professional editor with a keen understanding of the finer nuances of the subject area edits the document.

How Editage CoEs are organized

Each of our 20 CoEs is dedicated to a specific subject-area cluster and is categorized under the following three broad disciplines:

Humanities and the Social Sciences	Engineering and the Physical Sciences	Medicine and the Life Sciences
