

Nanyetec - HZH

A partnership for the benefit of our customers

The cooperation with one of the leading Chinese machinery manufacturers for the woodworking and processing industry HZH and the German company Nanyetec has created an optimal symbiosis in the European woodworking and processing machinery industry.

By combining our respective strengths, we are able to offer our customers, especially small and medium-sized wood product manufacturers in Europe, quality and price flexibility of products. Individuality and satisfaction with customer service are our priority.

Founded in Qingdao City in 1958, HZH Woodworking Machinery Co., Ltd. is one of the leading manufacturers in the Chinese market and known for a number of innovations. At HZH, which created the "Technical Standards for Horizontal Veneer Cutter in China", China's first veneer cutting machine was also produced. Thus, the first production line for planning, drying, cutting and measuring as well as the first grinding machine of China was also created here.

Today, HZH's product range includes several hundreds of different machine types and equipment in the five segments from veneer, panel, solid wood and furniture production to general equipment accessories.

In addition, machines and equipment for floors, doors and windows were also developed.

Although HZH generates large revenues not only in the domestic market but also abroad, such as Asia, Eastern Europe, Africa and the Middle East, HZH has in the past not followed European, and especially German, guidelines until its cooperation with Nanyetec began.

For sixteen years Mr. Senger has been responsible for customer service, repairs and installations in Canada and the USA as well as commissioning for some of the market leading woodworking and processing machinery manufacturers such as Altendorf, Reichenbacher, Homag, Holzma, Weinig, Raimann, Boere as well as Shoda and Alberti etc.

After returning to his native Germany, he met Mr. Hu from China, who had been working in B2B and B2C business for many years after studying in Germany. After extensive market research and analysis, they decided to find a competent and cooperative manufacturer in China. They found it with the company HZH and thus Nanyetec was created.

From many years of industry experience, we have learned that the success of a company depends not only on quality and innovation, but also on the timely, appropriate and individual service that is available to the customer to the maximum. In order to support our customers locally, we have set up a team in Germany: See team presentation below!
